

Coaches

We have some great ones! The criteria to select a coach for Kingtide Volleyball® is not easy.

First, we must know the coach and know that person well. If we don't know that person, the candidate must be highly recommended from a trusted source. At that point, we meet that individual and do an interview.

We are most interested in great people who care about working with children/young people and have passed the background screening process from USA Volleyball®.

Candidates must love the sport of volleyball, are willing to learn and committed to being great teachers and leaders first and foremost. To be a great teacher, they must take responsibility to study and be a lifelong learner.

Coaches we consider must have strong communication skills to provide appropriate and timely feedback to young and developing athletes. Candidates must be tireless workers, committed to service of others for the love of the sport and the coaching craft.

In addition, coaches we consider for our staff must manage prospective student athletes/young people at practice/team training sessions and pre-match, match, and post-match situations.

Coaches on our staff are expected to interact tactfully, graciously and professionally with parents of prospective student athletes who participate in our program, especially in a highly charged situation and emotional process.

Our coaches are valuable to us. We recognize that the prospective student athlete's growth into a great player and performer cannot be achieved without great coaches and leaders.
